
FOR PUBLIC DISTRIBUTION

2020-21 PHASED RE-ENTRY PLAN (COVID-19)

No American institutions are more vital than the courts. Courts of law enforce the rules and norms that allow free people to live together in community. Courts stand ready to protect our lives, our liberties and our property; to defend our civil rights; and to protect us from the actions of those who would undermine public safety. The work of our courts is fundamental to the functioning of society.

As the COVID-19 crisis has unfolded over the past year, all courts, including the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York, have continued to work for justice. But because of the pandemic, we have done a great deal of remote work, in a manner very different from our normal operations. We have had to be creative about how we did things. Certain of our most essential functions, especially jury trials, had to be suspended several times.

With each new wave of the pandemic, we have reacted. As the third wave recedes we once again are opening our doors to the public and moving toward a restoration of the full range of services that courts provide. We are committed to doing this in a way that provides maximum safety to those who work in our courthouses and those who visit them. We continue to be guided by the best possible scientific and medical advice.

The information below explains our phased re-entry protocols: from Phase I, during which some of our back-office staff reported to their regular duty stations, through Phase IV, when we can resume somewhat normal operations, albeit with security and health protocols in place until health officials assure us that the pandemic is over.

This document also describes the many new protocols that we are putting in place for your protection. It represents hundreds of hours of thoughtful work and research by our Chief Unit Executives – District Executive Edward Friedland, Clerk of Court Ruby Krajick, Chief of Pretrial Services Scott Kowal, Chief of Probation Michael Fitzpatrick – and members of their managerial staffs. I hope it answers many of the questions you must have at this difficult and puzzling time.

As has been the case for many months, we will move carefully, always monitoring for enhanced risk, and stepping back when necessary to preserve the health and safety of our employees, our users, and the public.

With your cooperation, we will eventually restore the full functioning of this, the first federal court to open for business in the United States; and we will continue together our quest for justice for all.

On behalf of all the judges and staff of “The Mother Court,” I thank you for your patience and I look forward to welcoming you back to our courthouses.

Colleen McMahon
Chief Judge

NEW HEALTH AND SAFETY PROTOCOLS FOR COURTHOUSES IN THE SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF NEW YORK

The health and safety of everyone who comes to our courthouses – employees, lawyers, litigants, jurors, the press, contractors, law enforcement personnel, and interested members of the public – is our first priority. After considering guidance from Dr. Amira Roess, an epidemiologist at George Mason University, as well as leading health organizations, including the Centers for Disease Control and New York State, New York City and Westchester County public health guidelines, the Southern District of New York adopts the following health and safety protocols for everyone’s protection. These protocols will remain in effect as long as public health guidance requires them. The SDNY has modified these protocols over time and will continue to do so in the future as needed. Please visit <https://www.nysd.uscourts.gov/covid-19-coronavirus> for the latest information relating to SDNY’s COVID-19 response.

Before You Come to the Courthouses of the Southern District of New York

We need your help in the fight against the COVID-19 virus. To that end, you must consult our Courthouse Access-Related Standing Orders before traveling to the courthouse. The Orders can be found on the court’s website under “SDNY Response to COVID-19,” or by clicking this link: <https://nysd.uscourts.gov/covid-19-coronavirus>. In those orders you will find a number of important restrictions that are designed to limit the risk that individuals who are knowingly or unknowingly infected with COVID-19 will enter through the courthouse doors.

What To Do If You Cannot Enter a Courthouse due to COVID Protocols

If you are supposed to report to the courthouse for official business – whether you are a lawyer, witness, litigant, juror, contractor, etc.; contact the person who directed you to report if you are not feeling well, showing symptoms of the virus, or live with someone who does. You can ask to participate in a proceeding remotely, or to adjourn the proceeding or reschedule the meeting.

SDNY employees have been instructed to report anyone who exhibits COVID-19 symptoms in the courthouse to a Unit Executive or a manager. We encourage our visitors to do the same. You can report your concerns to covid_response@nysd.uscourts.gov.

As You Enter the Courthouses of the Southern District of New York:

Every person who comes to one of our courthouses, for any reason, must pass through the following screening process:

- 1) You will be asked a few screening questions about your COVID-19 status and possible recent COVID-19 exposure. If your answers indicate that you may have COVID-19 or that you may have recently been exposed to COVID-19, you will not be permitted to enter. On the day you are coming to the courthouse, you can go to this web address to register and fill out the mandatory questionnaire ahead of time: https://www.nysd.uscourts.gov/sites/default/files/2020-10/QR%20Sign%20-%20Public_Media_v.5.pdf
- 2) Your temperature will be taken, using a contactless thermometer. If your temperature is 100.4 degrees or higher, you will not be permitted to enter the courthouse.
- 3) You are required to wear either: (i) one disposable mask underneath a cloth mask with the edges of the inner mask pushed against your face; or (ii) a properly-fitted, FDA-authorized KN95 (or N95) mask. Gaiters, bandannas, or masks with valves/vents are not acceptable face coverings. If you do not have the approved mask(s), a screener will provide one. No one will be admitted without the proper mask(s).
- 4) You must apply hand sanitizer, which will be available at all courthouse entrances.
- 5) You will place personal items that need to be screened through an x-ray machine in a single-use plastic bag, which will be discarded after each use. Court staff will not handle personal belongings.
- 6) You will place any electronic device that must be checked in a single-use plastic bag that will be handed to a Court Security Officer.

During Your Time in the Courthouse:

While you are in the courthouse, you must comply with the following rules. Failure to abide by these rules is grounds for immediate removal from the courthouse.

Face Coverings: You are required to wear either: (i) one disposable mask underneath a cloth mask with the edges of the inner mask pushed against your face; or (ii) a properly-fitted, FDA-authorized KN95 (or N95) mask in all public areas of the courthouse (including hallways, public counters, elevators and courtrooms). You must also wear a mask in all shared space/common areas where more than one person is assigned to work unless an SDNY staff member has granted you permission to remove your mask. You must also wear masks any time you are interacting with any other person(s) regardless of social distancing.

Social Distancing: You must adhere to safe social distancing rules by standing or sitting at least six feet away from other individuals.

To accomplish this, we have changed the look of many areas in our courthouse. We have removed chairs from the Jury Assembly room so potential jurors can sit six feet apart. Courtrooms are being reconfigured in order to provide for proper social distancing. Markings are placed in the well of the courtroom, at counsel tables and in the public seating gallery, to indicate where people may stand or sit. There are fewer seats in public galleries, and overflow courtrooms or public call-in phone numbers are used when necessary.

Jury trials are to take place in our largest courtrooms in each courthouse. Jury boxes have been enlarged and juror chairs separated by at least six feet for safe social distancing. Plexiglass dividers are being installed around the witness box and attorney podium, and may be placed elsewhere in courtrooms if recommended by our public health experts. We have installed additional technologies, including HEPA filters, and other air purifying technologies, where indicated by our expert consultants. Counsel tables have been separated to ensure attorneys, litigants, and defendants are properly distanced; seating is limited; some lawyers may have to sit in the gallery.

In addition, plexiglass barriers have been erected in key locations to enhance the safety of those transacting business with the Court – including public counters, frequently visited desks and workstations – to enhance the safety of those transacting business with the Court and the SDNY employees who assist them.

If you are standing in line, you must keep six feet away from any person around you unless you are taking care of a small child or assisting someone with special needs. Elevator capacity is limited as posted to no more than three people, all of whom must wear masks. Markings are placed on floors in highly trafficked areas, indicating where it is permissible to stand or walk.

Doors: Whenever possible, doors used by the public, including restroom doors, will be left ajar, so that no one needs to touch door handles to gain entry.

Hand Washing and Sanitizing: You are expected to practice appropriate hygiene, which includes frequent handwashing with soap and water for at least 20 seconds and the use of hand sanitizer when handwashing is not possible. Hand sanitizers are placed throughout the courthouses, especially in highly trafficked areas like courtroom entrances, employee work areas, and public counters. You should wash your hands after touching surfaces like elevator call buttons, door handles, public counters, and workplace equipment. You should also wash your hands after using the restroom, sneezing, blowing your nose, eating or drinking, going on break, or interacting with the public. All restrooms have plenty of soap and paper towels, which will be regularly replenished.

Cleaning: Cleaning crews are available throughout the day to sanitize heavily trafficked spaces and to disinfect courtrooms after they are used. Cleaning supplies are available in courtrooms, restrooms and other places where court business takes place.

Instructional Signage: There are health and hygiene reminders at all entrances and throughout the courthouses. This signage will remind you about SDNY rules on masks, social distancing, occupancy restrictions, and hand washing.

Employee Protocols: SDNY employees are our first line of defense against COVID-19. All our employees will be trained in COVID-prevention measures and will at all times be wearing job-appropriate personal protective equipment. We are arranging employee schedules to minimize the number of people in the courthouses at any given time. Most important, SDNY employees are under strict instructions not to report to work if they or anyone with whom they have had close contact tests positive for COVID-19 or exhibits symptoms of the virus.

You can rest assured that our employees take your protection very seriously.

The information that follows outlines the four-phased reopening plan that we have begun to follow in order to restore services from the courthouses here in the Southern District of New York. You will note that the courthouses are not going back to “business as usual” right away. Moreover, if there are new outbreaks, we will not hesitate to pull services back until it is safe to resume them. At all times we will balance the need to move court calendars with the safety of our courthouse users, and public safety will be paramount.

SDNY PLAN FOR PHASED RESTORATION OF FULL SERVICES

Introduction

In line with guidance from the Administrative Office of the United States Courts, the SDNY is establishing a four-phase plan for restoration of full services at courthouses.

The Office of the District Executive will oversee implementation of this plan, in consultation with the Chief Judge and Chairs of the Court's Committees on Security, House and Space, Criminal Law and Probation, and the Clerk's Office. The District Executive will also coordinate with the other Unit Executives – the Clerk of Court and the Chiefs of Probation and Pretrial Services.

The Chief Judge, in consultation with the COVID-19 Response Team, will determine when the SDNY will enter or exit a specific Phase. The Chief Judge and the COVID-19 Response Team will also decide when it may be necessary to reduce services in the event of a new round of viral infections.

Prior to Any Restoration of Courthouse Services:

In anticipation of implementing Phase 1, significant physical modifications were made to courthouse facilities. You will see modifications to the following spaces that were made to promote social distancing and ensure safe environment for everyone:

- a) Employee Work Areas: Staff areas were measured for compliance with social distancing rules (minimum six feet) and reconfigured where needed to comply with social distancing standards. All employee work areas were equipped with disinfectant and hand sanitizer so that shared equipment can be regularly cleaned during the day and employees can follow recommended hand sanitation practices.
- b) Jury Assembly Rooms: In Foley Square and White Plains, jury assembly rooms are being reconfigured so that every prospective juror sits at least six feet away from any other person.
- c) Courtrooms: The largest courtrooms in both Foley Square and White Plains (Courtrooms 23a, 23b, 24a, 24b, 26a, and 26b in the Moynihan Courthouse; Courtrooms 110 and 318 in the Marshall Courthouse; and Courtrooms 218, 520 and 521 in the Briant Courthouse) are being renovated to allow for jury trials that comply with the guidelines set forth herein. Jury boxes and deliberation rooms and tables are being enlarged to accommodate jurors. Witness boxes will have plexiglass sneeze guards to protect courtroom occupants when needed. Additional technologies will be installed where needed for added safety. Counsel tables are separated, and chairs are being removed so that lawyers can maintain social distance. Portions of public seating galleries have been repurposed for jurors or for seating for additional lawyers or clients in civil cases. Technology has been added to allow for attorney's and clients to speak to each other while seated at counsel table and remain socially distanced. Benches in the gallery that are designated for public seating are marked for social distancing.

All other courtrooms in Foley Square and White Plains have been measured to ensure compliance with social distancing protocols. Where necessary, furniture and podiums have been relocated.

- d) Mail Room: Plexiglass barriers have been installed in the mail room to protect staff from individuals who are delivering or picking up mail and packages.
- e) Public Hallways: Floors have been marked to indicate where people can stand in line for elevator or counter service.
- f) Hand Sanitizer: Dispensers have been installed throughout the courthouses and disinfectants and paper towels placed in all shared spaces, including podiums, witness boxes, and restrooms.
- g) Disinfectant: Disinfectants and paper towels have been placed in all shared spaces, including podiums, witness boxes, and restrooms.
