CLERKSHIP APPLICATIONS

Judge Ho has completed law clerk hiring through 2024-2025. He has openings for all clerkship terms thereafter. Positions will be posted on OSCAR. Applicants must submit their materials through OSCAR and should not send applications by email or regular mail. Judge Ho encourages applicants to include in their cover letter any relevant information that does not appear elsewhere in the application.

Judge Ho is currently participating in the Pilot Law Clerk Hiring Plan and, accordingly, will not consider applications from students graduating in 2025 until the Plan Date in 2024 (12 p.m. on June 10). Applicants graduating in 2024 or earlier may apply at any time.

Applicants should not call Chambers to inquire about the status of their application.

LAW STUDENT INTERNSHIPS

Judge Ho has completed intern hiring through the summer of 2024. He has openings for internship terms thereafter. Judge Ho hires interns throughout the year. Interns during the fall or spring semester work approximately two days per week and interns over the summer work full-time.

Interns assist in the wide range of cases on Judge Ho's docket in various ways, including preparing his opinions and orders for publication, performing legal research, and aiding in trials. Interns are encouraged to attend various hearings and trials taking place in the Southern District of New York and the Second Circuit Court of Appeals. They will also have the opportunity to produce a writing sample related to their work in chambers.

Summer interns must be available to work full time for at least ten weeks. While some remote work may be possible, interns should expect to work in person in chambers. The internship position is unpaid, but Judge Ho will work with interns to ensure they receive any funding or academic credit available through their schools. Judge Ho also participates in the Judicial Intern Opportunity Program offered through the American Bar Association.

Applicants should have excellent analytic and writing abilities. Attention to detail and ability to juggle competing deadlines is strongly favored. Applicants of all diverse backgrounds and experiences are encouraged to apply.
